A Ceremony of Remembrance and Reflection will take place on Sunday 20th March 2022 at the Town Hall Civic Plaza, Centaur Street, Carlow at 5.30pm and you are invited to attend. This event will enable individual and collective remembrance and commemoration within our community of all those who have died and have been bereaved during the COVID 19 Pandemic, whilst also acknowledging the scale and impact of the end-of-life care that individuals gave to the dying and their families in our community during this time. It is also an opportunity to pause and reflect, take time to remember and pay tribute to everyone within our community who have contributed to how we have faced and are facing the challenges together.

The ceremony will include presentation of Books of Remembrance and Reflection and in the week preceding, the public are invited into the Libraries across County Carlow (Carlow Town, Bagenalstown, Borris and Tullow) during library opening hours, from Monday 14th March 2022 to share in these books of Remembrance and Reflection, the impact of the pandemic has had on your lives. You may choose a story to write, picture to draw, photograph or remembrance poem to share as your memorialisation moments and reflections

After the Ceremony, these books will be returned to the Libraries for the month of March and April for the public to continue to share their moments and reflections. The books will then remain part of an archive cared for by our library services for years to come.
